

Yamuna Full Body Rolling with Danielle Hagggar

Yamuna® Body Rolling (YBR) is a whole body fitness system that stimulates the bone, improves bone quality, relieves pain and creates space in the joints. You will see an increase in range of motion, a lengthened and toned core and an elongated spine. The added benefits include stress relief, healing and prevention of injuries and freedom from myofascial restrictions. Unlike using foam rollers, YBR goes far beyond random movement and stretch. It allows you to work specific muscles in detail, working from origin to insertion, creating positive, permanent changes in the body.

This workshop will help the hamstrings, quadriceps and calf muscles to be well aligned, and moving across each joint correctly, to avoid breakdowns in the ankle, feet, knees, and hips. We will also work on the shoulder joint - one of the most overused parts of the body. It's important to keep the shoulder aligned, tension free, and with full range of motion. Learning to care for your shoulders will prevent movement limitation, rounded shoulders, frozen shoulders and other common shoulder injuries.
